Acknowledgments ix
Contributors xi
Preface xv

1 Money: Some reflections on its impact on psychoanalytic education and psychoanalytic practice 1
THEODORE JACOBS

2 It was a great month: None of my patients left 13
IRWIN HIRSCH

3 The rich are different: Issues of wealth in analytic treatments 21
ROBERT ALAN GLICK

4 Analyzing a “new superego”: Greed and envy in the age of affluence 35
JANICE S. LIEBERMAN

5 To be guilty or entitled? That is the question: Reflections on Dr. Lieberman’s Contribution 55
HAROLD BLUM

6 Tight money and couples: How it can help even as it hurts 59
BRENDA BERGER

7 Follow the money: Training and fees, fantasy and reality 75
STEPHANIE NEWMAN
8 Money and meaning: A senior psychoanalyst comments on Drs. Berger and Newman
SHELLEY ORGEL

9 Money, love, and hate: Contradiction and paradox in psychoanalysis
MURIEL DIMEN

10 Working with children, adolescents, and young adults: The meaning of money in the therapeutic situation
PAMELA MEERSAND

11 Show me the money: (The “problem” of) the therapist’s desire, subjectivity, and relationship to the fee
KACHINA MYERS

12 Money and gender: Financial facts and fantasies for female and male therapists
ARIELLE FARBER SHANOK

13 Dollars and sense: Cognitive biases and personal investing
DAN GRECH

Index